Policing With The Community

The PSNI in Foyle Cityside has recently produced and delivered an information leaflet detailing how to contact all their Neighbourhood Police Team Officers. The leaflet already delivered to every household in Cityside provides information on the NPT officers detailing the neighbourhoods they are responsible for and their mobile phone numbers.

The leaflet gives people the opportunity to discuss their concerns with a dedicated officer and ensures that officers are more accessible to the public. A similar leaflet will be produced for the Waterside detailing the Neighbourhood Police Teams responsible for Waterside Rural and Waterside Urban.

Speaking about the leaflet Neighbourhood Inspector Trevor McKeown said "Neighbourhood Police Teams play a critical role within all our communities and neighbourhoods. They are often the first point of contact for residents and victims of crime and are the officers that the public identifies most with. We felt it appropriate that each neighbourhood officer is easily contactable by the public. The leaflet also delivers on the recently published policing commitment "we will give you contact details of your Neighbourhood Policing Team and tell you where they are based and how they can work with you to make your neighbourhood safer". He added that "officers have been delighted with the response they have received to the leaflet"

Farm security event an outstanding success

A recent Farm Security event organized by PSNI in partnership with Derry and Limavady District Policing Partnerships and the Ulster Farmer's Union has been hailed an outstanding success by organizers. The event which took place in the Vale Centre, Greysteel focused on farm security and was attended by approximately 100 members of the public. The large crowd took the opportunity to avail of a range of advice, literature and practical help from the various organizations and Edwin Stevenson, Chair of Limavady District Policing Partnership and Thomas Conway, Chair of Derry District Policing Partnership, took the lead and were the first farmers to have their trailers marked with the individualised distinctive lettering and security mark. A new text alert system was also launched at the event to help farmers fight back against rural crime. The text alert scheme will allow farmers to sign up and receive text messages about suspicious activity or trailer theft.

Speaking after the event PSNI Chief Inspector Jon Burrows said it was a simple, but effective, way of tackling crime. "For example, if you notice a suspect vehicle, we can circulate the details and farmers can be kept updated".

Councillor Thomas Conway, Chairperson of Derry DPP and a farmer himself said: "Police in Foyle have recently been successful in tackling rural crime, particularly farm thefts, but we cannot become complacent."

Crime Prevention Officers said "there was great interest in the Rural Text Alert System and it was great to see so many farmers turn up on the night. Many brought their trailers with them to avail of our free trailer marking scheme and there was plenty of interest in the various information stands. Those who attended found out that you don't need to spend lots of money to protect your farm which has to be good news."

City Centre Team Scoop National Award

The Foyle City Centre Neighbourhood Team recently won the prestigious accolade of 'Neighbourhood Police Team of the Year' at this year's NI Policing with the Community Awards.

The award recognises outstanding problem-solving, policing in partnership with local communities and the important contribution that police make to creating a safer Northern Ireland for all.

The City Centre NPT comprises one Inspector, one sergeant and eight constables and covers a diverse area including the educational precinct, Fountain/Bishop Street interface, residential and business areas of the city. The City Centre Team also has the Aberfoyle and Fr Mulvey Park Neighbourhood Watch schemes in their area.

▲ Mayor Maurice Devenney congratulates the City Centre NPT on their recent Policing with the Community Award

Speaking at a civic reception for the team, Mayor Devenney said "Neighbourhood policing plays a vital role within our communities today. It is through teams like this that important relationships are being built and safer communities created. Our city team is commendable for the professional manner and exceptional service it has delivered for our citizens. I would like to congratulate them for providing such a valuable service."

Funding for Rural Warden Scheme Secured

Derry City Council's Community Safety Partnership has recently secured funding from the Department of Justice to employ two wardens to operate in the rural areas of the Council district. An allocation of £20,000 was awarded to the scheme which will mean that a total of twelve community wardens are now employed by the Council.

The City Warden Scheme consists of six wardens working primarily in the Neighbourhood Renewal Areas has been operational since September 2009. The scheme has recently won the '2011 Best Joint Initiative' award at the annual NI Local Government Association (NILGA) Awards This scheme is funded by NI Housing Executive, Derry City Council, PSNI and the Department for Social Development.

The Northland Warden Scheme consists of four wardens working primarily in the educational precinct and has been operational since 2007. This scheme is funded by the Department of Justice, University of Ulster and NI Housing Executive.

▲ Rural Wardens will help reduce the fear of crime in isolated rural communities

The lack of a similar service being provided in the rural district of the Council area which is experiencing similar problems of low level nuisance, underage drinking and anti social behavior prompted the funding application. Council is aiming to have the 2 rural wardens operational by September 2011.
